Stop Telling Me You're "Doing AI"

Many teams say they're “doing AI,” but without outcomes, it's just noise. This blog challenges the buzzword and urges leaders to start with strategy, planning, and prioritization before deploying AI. It's not about chasing hype, but about delivering real business value using the intelligence already in your systems like CRM, data lakes, and email. Don't just “do AI.” Use it to reduce risk, spark innovation, and deliver outcomes that matter.
